Re: 2nd Quarter 2006 Results

Dear Partners,

In order to keep you abreast of our investment outlook, I've included press releases on each of our core holdings in this month's statement. I hope that the information on these companies will help to show you what I look for in companies.

Our return for the quarter was -9.20%, which gives us a true return of right at -12% for the first 6 months of this year. In my last letter I explained that the real return for the 1st quarter was closer to -2.79% versus what was shown. If you add this quarter's return with the return of -2.79% to last quarter, you get a return approximating -12% for the first 6 months. While these numbers are somewhat disappointing, I want to let you know that my long-term projections foresee positive returns by year's end. My confidence stems from the close scrutiny of the companies in which we are invested. I am still very confident that this year will fit right into my plans and projections.

Also in the last letter I informed you that the 1st quarter return was hampered due to accounting issues. Our accounting firm had elected to lower the mark (price at the end of the quarter) on several positions we completed PIPE transactions with over the past few quarters. Wilson Resources, Inc., was one of those companies in which we had elected to invest. I did not give a detailed description of Wilson in my last letter since it was still a private company at the time. Wilson is now a public company as of July 25, 2006. The IPO of Wilson will be a nice bonus to our 3rd quarter results.

Our returns for the 2nd quarter were not exactly what I was striving for, but as this quarter progresses I can see we are getting closer to the year-end goal of a 14 to 18 % return. The two biggest drawbacks for the 2nd quarter came from American Access Technologies and Who's Your Daddy, Inc. The first was down close to 40% for the quarter, while the latter was down nearly 15%. In previous statements, our projected return was set at 18-22% for the year. This number has been changed to 14-18%. This is still a good return considering the markets have remained stagnant, and I had much rather surprise to the upside at year end.

As stated earlier, I have enclosed some information on each company we hold a core position. Please review at your convenience and feel free to call me if you have any questions on any of the companies. To highlight some of the developments:

American Access Technologies, symbol AATK, recently reported record earnings of $.03 per share for the 2nd quarter. The company also announced that it would be merging with M&I Electric Industries, a private company out of Houston, TX. The combined company will have revenue north of $60 million and net income of close to $4 million. At this price, we think AATK is very cheap. It may take until after the merger to bring any attention to the company. The merger is slated to close in the 3rd quarter of this year.

Nyer Medical Group, Inc recently announced record revenues and record prescriptions filled. We do expect more positive corporate developments in the very near future involving Nyer Medical. The company's year-end report should be released before September 15th, which should also give us a better picture as to just how good the pharmacy subsidiary is performing.

Wilon Resources, Inc. recently completed their Initial Public Offering. The company trades under the symbol WLON on the Over the Counter. I see a very bright future for this small natural gas producer. The company has been profitable the past two years and this trend is expected to continue. Feel free to review their operations at www.wilonresources.com.

I have enclosed a profile on Who's Your Daddy, Inc. The company recently hired away a senior sales manager from a competitor, Jones Soda. The company continues to sign up tier one Anheuser Busch distributors, along with other alcoholic beverage distributors, in the process of building a solid distribution map.

Overall, I am very happy with the positions we are invested in and I expect the 2nd half of this year to treat the fund much better. The month of July alone has given a spark to our 3rd quarter returns with the Wilon IPO.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions. I am always available to speak at your convenience.

Sincerely,

Wayne Anderson
